"HALF A STEP" IS DECIDING LEAP

McGraw Strong for Men Who Manage to Just Beat All Throws.

New York, December 14.—At the recent league meeting in this city, John J. McGraw got started on the subject of base running. "A man that is continually losing the decision by half a step," he said, "will never win a close game for you. As far as results are concerned, the ball might just as well beat him to first by thirty feet as by three. Real speed on a team consists of just that extra half step. It is probable that other managers realize this fact as well as McGraw. It seems strange, therefore, that spring training does not include expert coaching in the art of sprinting. There are very few ball players, who in the hands of Mike Murphy, would not learn to run much faster than they do. Very few of the men have any idea of the scientific principles of sprinting. Any one who has watched ball players closely and noticed their manner of running, and the length of their stride will realize that they do not run with the same power and efficiency as the trained short distance man. In the first place many of them, while they move their feet and legs fast, take a short stride and run with an up and down motion. They also waste time by throwing the foot far out behind them. Then, too, many of them turn their toes out.

Any trainer will tell you that a man is capable of taking only a limited number of strides in a specified time. The object is, therefore, to carry him over every inch of ground possible at each stride and to do it with the least waste of effort. Barney Wefers is said to have taken a nine-foot stride. Many ball players with limbs just as long do not stride over five feet. It seems reasonable to suppose that a quick starting, and the proper method of sprinting, could give many of them that extra step or half step, which in a ball game often measures the distance between victory and defeat.

CANADIAN WANTS COMBINED GAME

Montreal, Quebec, December 14.—By combining Rugby and American football, Coach Shaughnessy, of McGill University, says that he thinks that the ideal game could be produced. On this point he says:

"I believe the ideal game could be produced by combining the Canadian with the American game. Remove the two side scrummers and play twelve men a side, and you will have a continuous performance of running and kicking. Twelve men a side would give greater scope for end runs and permit more compact line plays. Add to this the snapping of the ball out of the scrum, whereby it could be put in play just twice as fast as by heeling, and consequently start the back line in action with the same proportion of speed, and the game would be perfect, in my opinion.

"I believe the American rule of allowing a fair catch, instead of giving tackling yards, is more satisfactory to both players and spectators. A fair catch is all a halfback requires, and the American rules also protect the man from being charged after he has kicked the ball. The Canadian rule does also but it is not enforced. The loss of half the distance to the offending side's goal line would soon eliminate the charging after a man has not his punt away. I saw one good through being charged after he had kicked."

ATHLETICS TO PLAY ASHVEY L.E.

Connie Mack Closes With Tommy Storch for Two Exhibition Games in Spring. Ashvev, N. C., December 14.—Manager Thomas C. Storch, of the local baseball club, has closed a contract with Manager Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia team, of the American League, whereby the latter agrees to bring the White Elephants here for two games on the afternoon of April 1 and 2. The announcement that the Athletics are to play here will be learned with a great deal of interest in this city, and it is expected that the two games will be witnessed by enormous crowds.

CLOSING DATE IS JANUARY 2

Futurity Books Will Close on Day After New Year's. Added Money.

New York, December 14.—The Coney Island Jockey Club announces that entries for the 1913 futurity will close on Thursday, January 2, of next year. The distance of the race is six furlongs. There will be $5,000 added money, of which $1,750 goes to the trustees. The last futurity was run in 1910 at Saratoga. It was won by Sam Hildreth's Novelty. Bashtu was second and Love Knot third. The time was one minute twelve and one-fifth seconds. The value was $10,000. This was the smallest purse in the history of the classic. Agitation against horse racing in this State at the time was responsible for the decrease in value.

There is the usual clause, however, providing that the club may cancel the event and return the entrance money without further liability. One of the drawbacks to racing is the "personal liability" clause in the racing laws, and as that has been ruled out by the courts, there is a possibility that the club may see its way to meetings next year, although there are hopes of legislation on the subject at the next session of the Legislature.

FOGEL STEPS OUT AS PHIL'S OWNER

Incidentally He Steps Out of Organized Baseball—Balfour Probable Purchaser.

Philadelphia, December 14.—Horace Fogel stepped out of organized baseball forever at 2 o'clock this afternoon, although no official announcement has been made of the option which he held on the stock of the Phillies has expired.

Robert A. Balfour, of this city, seems to be in the lead for the purchase of the club, but he and Charles P. Taft—who controls the grounds of the club, which are held in the name of Mrs. Taft, and the club through the fact that he loaned a large amount of money to Fogel, taking the stock as collateral for the loan—are $10,000 apart on the purchase price.

Balfour has offered $100,000 for the club grounds and $146,000 for the franchise. Taft's figures are said to be $100,000 for the grounds and $148,000 for the club's franchise. It looks as if there would be a compromise and the grounds and franchise would become the property of Balfour.

6:30 R. M. Lawrence, 6:40 1-2. One hundred yards dash—F. J. Fowler, T. J. Reddin, and E. B. Dunford, 12 2-5 seconds; J. M. Elnore, 12 4-5; B. W. Brockenbrough, Jr., E. A. Sullivan and E. A. Seal, 12 seconds. Running broad jump—T. J. Reddin, 16 feet 3 1-2 inches; F. J. Fowler, 16 feet 5 1-2 inches; E. B. Dunford, 16 feet 4 inches; E. A. Seal, 16 feet 3 1-2 inches; E. A. Sullivan, 15 feet 6 1-2 inches.

The Tenpin Bowling League games will be rolled on Tuesday night of this week, instead of Monday. On Thursday night two teams of ducky rollers will hold forth in a three-game series.
